MICROLUTION™

The original pioneers of microcoil technology, we challenged ourselves to deliver even more support and comforting weight distribution into our microcoil layers.

The next big thing in microcoil technology, featuring our innovative two-phase comfort with two coils working together to provide both comfort and support.

It's two-stage action means the active coil offers the main comfort and support whilst the response coil delivers a secondary support to the user.

Microolution delivers a level of luxurious comfort and long-term support that until now has been impossible to find in such a light, micro spring layer.
